

Looking 20 moves ahead

Above, Adalee Bauer focuses intently on her move during her first round match with Ryan Pugh. Both were taking part in Waypoint Foundation's annual scholastic chess tournament at Parkway School on Saturday. Right, students of all ages from Ephrata, Soap Lake, and Moses Lake competed in the 13th year of the event. This year Moses Lake high schooler Dricher Gesulga won the grand prize by winning against Ryan Pugh in the final round. The tournament is organized every year by Troy and Roger Pugh in honor of their late brother. The brothers spent much of their youth competing in chess tournaments.

Photos by Lauren McLaughlin

IN OTHER NEWS ...

■ Roundabout plans

EPHRATA — State Department of Transportation staff are scheduled to present information regarding a proposed roundabout interchange during a public open house Wednesday, Feb. 6, at the Ephrata Community Center.

■ Meas

MOSES LAKE — The Moses Lake area school district has the option of purchasing the Moses Lake area school district's share of the Moses Lake area sewer system. The district is currently negotiating with the Moses Lake area sewer district.

BY RAN
of the Jo
EPHRA
— Testim
began
the first
gree mu
trial of Gu
vo T
Rodriguez
accused Quincy v
years ago.
In a br
Grant Co
tor Kevin
rior court
31-year-o
physically
at the Sha
George, c
ing lot in area sever
shot mult
and torso
Sundb
on Dec.
scribed h
tion."
"He d tied a full

Gu
tor
tion
Tap
2014
mon

S